REPORT NO. [REDACTED]

1. Dr. Walter Sander, specialist on antarctic matters and former professor at the University of Innsbruck, is expected to arrive in Buenos Aires in November 1948. He will be associated with the Buenos Aires Museum of Natural Sciences. Accompanying Dr. Sander will be ten similar experts, stationed in Greenland during World War II, who are now scattered throughout Germany, Switzerland, and Austria.
2. Dr. (fnu) Hlinak (Hainak), electrical engineer and long-range telephone expert, credited with building the lines connecting Berlin with Istanbul, Bucharest, and Paris, has been in Buenos Aires since early 1948. Six of his former specialists will arrive in Argentina from Europe within the near future.
